

London Fashion Week - H&M&180 SS 2026.

Client	Kennedy London
Contract Value	Confidential
Date	2025
Scope	Star Live delivered the integrated runway, bleacher seating and video support structure for H&M's London Fashion Week show, staged within the live construction site at 180 The Strand. Appointed by Kennedy London, our team engineered and installed a bespoke structural solution combining vertical trusses for video screens, tiered bleacher seating and a custom catwalk, designed as a single coordinated system within the courtyard's restricted footprint. The installation was developed to operate safely alongside ongoing construction activity, with all elements configured to maximise space, maintain circulation and align with the show's spatial design. The completed environment transformed a constrained, high-activity site into a coherent runway setting, delivered to programme within strict access, loading and safety parameters.
